Dear Neighbor:

We have the proverbial good news and bad news about the beach. First the good news is that the Nassau County Board of Health has informed us that bacteria levels have tested as acceptable and we can reopen the beach for swimming. The bad news is that the lifeguards have decided to leave our employment sooner than the dates they promised so we cannot officially open the beach. However, our Highway Department crew is cleaning up the dead fish from our beach, previously a lifeguard responsibility. Be well.
